

What really is the big deal if XM and other satalite radio companies offer local traffic and weather. We are paying for a service and the content that we recieve should not make any difference to the broadcasters. I have digital cable with the weather channel on it now if this is the right thing for the big broadcasters to do why aren't they trying to shut down my weatherscan loacal from the weather channel. It is the same idea you cant recieve it on a over the air broadcast you need cable or satalite to get that channel. Is that so hard to understand.
